

Appendix 3

Internet Sources

The list of the basic Internet sources of the information on Bold for Delphi product with brief descriptions is presented below. Third-party companies products are described in Chapter 15.

<http://info.borland.com/techpubs/delphi/boldfordelphi/> – an official page of Borland company-developer Web site, dedicated to Bold for Delphi.

<news://forums.borland.com> – Borland news site containing the following useful newsgroups on Bold for Delphi product: borland.public.delphi.modeldrivenarchitecture.general (the general technical issues) and borland.public.delphi.modeldrivenarchitecture.thirdparty (technical issues concerning products of third-party companies).

<http://www.boldbox.com> – a site-portal of Bold for Delphi, containing many links to other sources.

<http://www.howtodothings.com> – a site containing "Bold" page with reviews and examples of solutions.

http://www.viewpointsa.com/bold_resources/ – a site containing articles for novice developers.

<http://intrasting.com/boldrave/> – a site of the company-developer of BoldRave product.

<http://www.DroopyEyes.com> – a site of the company-developer of deBold product.

<http://www.plexityhide.com> – a site of the company-developer of ph_grid, ph_gant products.

<http://www.rad-studio.com> – a site of the company-developer of BoldGridPro product.

<http://www.holtonsystems.com> – a site of the company-developer of OCL-extensions and TCP OSS.

<http://www.sf.net/projects/boldsoapserver/> – a site of company-developer of BoldSoapServer.

<http://www.neosight.com/> – a site of company-developer of BoldExpress.